U.S. Bombers Meet No Interceptors In Northern France

Nazi Air Force Fails To Battle U. S. Bombers

American Fortresses Attack Northern France Without Air Opposition Today

SECOND DAY OF NO INTERCEPTION

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

LONDON, March 13.—Fortresses of the Eighth U. S. Army Air Force, escorted by Thunderbolts, today attacked military targets in northern France.

The big bombers met with no opposition from enemy fighters, returning pilots reported, but two planes failed to return, probably as the result of anti-aircraft fire.

This was the second time in two days that the German air force failed to intercept American day bombers. Yesterday a large force of Liberators visited the Pas de Calais area of the French invasion coast without escort and the Nazis made no attempt to stop them.

Nazi Air Power Dwindles
Allied observers agreed that lack of opposition gave further evidence of the dwindling power of the German air force.

The fortress assaults came in the midst of a day marked by intense Allied air activity. A steady stream of aircraft streaked across the channel to maintain the bombardment of the continent. A sharp March wind lashed the waters of the Dover Straits.

About noon clouds over the coastal area broke enough for observers to sight Royal Air Force fighters, among them Typhoons, coming back from the French side of the channel. These shortly after were followed in by formations of heavier type planes.

One formation was believed to have struck at the Boulogne area.

Sweep Over Western Germany
During the night, the air ministry announced, fleet Mosquito bombers kept the aerial offensive blazing without another sweep over western Germany, where military objectives were attacked without loss.

British Spitfires were seen patrolling the channel area almost continually since dawn.

The action came on the heels of forceful assaults against the Pas-de-Calais region of France in days.

PA NEWC Observes

According to official records spring will make its debut one week from today. The time for entrance is scheduled as 1:49 p. m., eastern war time, March 20.

According to reports from the communities around the Pymatung lake, plans are being considered for postwar expansion of the lake area for a recreation center.

Scott McCablin, of 903 East Washington street informed Owen Fox, city forester, that he had recently been out the Harlansburg road, in the vicinity of the game farm. Being a lover of wildlife, he became quite interested when he saw four groundhogs playing and gamboling atop a knoll which was covered by snow.

Owen Fox states that the buds of the crab trees in Gaston park are very firm and hard, and things seem more favorable than last year, when many opened buds on fruit trees were deluged with rain, then freezing, killing the life or germ of the pollen. The forsythia, dutzia and the bitter hickory flower buds are far advanced.

ALLIED NATIONS ACT TO HALT ESPIONAGE

By MAJOR PAUL C. RABORG
(Written Especially for N. S.)

NEW YORK, March 13.—The announcement that the British government has decreed that all traffic between the British Isles and Ireland, meaning North Ireland and Eire in the south, must cease as of March 13th until further notice, is in nature more military than diplomatic.

It has been decreed that the summer of 1944 holds the doom of Hitler and his Nazi ideology. We may all be certain that every possible method of war will be catapulted at the German war machine by the United Nations during this coming summer. It will be attacked from the west, the east, the south, and from the air.

Must Halt Espionage
Military preparations on the part of the Allies and Russia for the coming all-out assaults are being rushed to completion 24 hours a day in every possible theatre of the great coming combats. But those military preparations are far more embracing than the amassing of large units of the armed forces, their needed armaments, munitions, supplies and replenishments. The military intelligence units must not only continue their work of gathering information from enemy territory, but they must spread a protective web about all the battle preparations that will keep the Axis from knowing where and when the coming offensive blows will fall against them.

Such action has been evidenced by the recent Allied efforts to stop the functioning of all Axis espionage.

Rumania Seeks Way Out Of War

Nation Reported As Jittery As Russian Advance Toward Border Continues

SOME REGIONS ARE BEING EVACUATED

LONDON, March 13.—(INS)—The heading surge of Soviet legions toward central and southeast Europe brought a call today for Czechs to start an "armed uprising" against the Nazis reported by sent jittery Rumania into a tailspin of peace activity.

With Russian legions only a little more than 100 miles of Czechoslovakia, the Czech government in exile broadcast an appeal to loyal followers to go over from passive resistance to develop an "armed uprising" of all against "foreign invaders."

The Czechs, whose government has signed a mutual aid pact with Russia, have been carrying on small-scale guerrilla and harassing campaigns against the Germans since the beginning of the war.

Rumania Seeks Peace
With the Red only 55 miles from Rumania's border, the government of youthful King Michael was reported to be bending new efforts to get out of the war before the Russian legions overrun the Balkan kingdom.

In a dispatch from Ankara, the Daily Mail "reported the presence in the Turkish capital of two titled Rumanians, 'working feverishly' in an attempt to come to terms, either with the Russians or with Britain and the United States.

For weeks, Rumanians have been evacuating some border regions in view of the steady advance of the Russians, and Premier Ion Antonescu is said to have ordered widespread army reorganization in preparation for expected battles within Rumania.

Reuters reported a Budapest radio broadcast saying the Bulgarian minister to Madrid had arrived in Sofia over the week-end, and was immediately received by Prime Minister Dobri Boshilov.

The Budapest radio was quoted as saying also that the Bulgarian ambassador to Berlin is believed to have been ordered into Sofia next week for a series of conferences with Boshilov.

Hitler Fails To Make Address

Germany Silent On Cause Of His Failure To Appear On Sunday

(International News Service)

LONDON, March 13.—German propaganda agencies had nothing to say today regarding the failure of Adolf Hitler to speak yesterday on Germany's memorial day.

Every year since the start of the war, the Fuehrer has spoken from the Rostrum of the Zeughaus, military museum on Unter den Linden in praise of German heroes. Yesterday, however, his place was taken by Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz who told the German people that "a bitter struggle is being waged for the existence or annihilation of our nation."

Always Predicted Victory

Hitler said in 1940, before the invasion of France, that "the most glorious victory of our history" impended. In 1941, previous to invasion of Russia, he predicted final victory. In 1942 he admitted that a colossal struggle was had but promised a crushing victory the following summer.

Hitler's regular appearance at the Zeughaus last year dispelled reports of his death. He declared at that time the crisis on the eastern front had been overcome but admitted that Allied bombings had brought the war to German soil.

German Forces Below Rome Are Heavily Shelled

Regrouping Nazis Are Targets Of Big Guns Of Allies At Beachhead

BAD WEATHER IS STILL PREVALENT

By JAMES L. KILGALLIE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

NAPLES, March 13.—German forces regrouping below Rome for an expected fourth all-out attempt to wipe out the Anzio beachhead were disclosed today to have been heavily shelled by Allied artillery, "with good effect."

As Fifth Army big guns lobbed their missiles into pre-located Nazi positions, bad weather and intermittent rains halted any offensive action in the beachhead, though patrols clashed at "several points." The Mediterranean Allied Air Force also was virtually grounded, flying only 300 sorties compared to the 1,200 to 1,500 it flew daily during the recent German push, which fizzled out before combined air-ground-naval defenses of Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's veteran army.

No German Planes

Not a German plane was sighted over the beachhead yesterday, headquarters of Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson announced.

On the main Fifth Army front in the Cassino area, the Nazi attacked French positions on a hill one and one-half miles east of Terelle, but were hurled back.

Heavy rains made any ground action other than patrol activity virtually impossible, all along the front. The Italian line from the Adriatic to the Tyrrhenian.

During the night of March 11 (Saturday), headquarters said, German planes dropped anti-personnel bombs on Allied forward positions in the Beachhead.

Completes Two Week's Stay Here With Total Of 2,043 Volunteer Donors

On Saturday, the mobile unit of the Red Cross Blood Donor Service ended its second stay in New Castle and was today set up in Ellwood City where it will remain through this week.

During its stay here, 2,043 volunteer donors each gave a pint of blood. This blood has already been turned over to the army and navy to be processed into plasma for use by the armed services.

This was the second time within the past three months the temporary Red Cross Blood Donor center has been set up here at the First Presbyterian church. During the unit's first stay, last July more than 1,900 pints of blood were given by New Castle residents, so that the past year's total is nearly 4,000 pints from New Castle, exclusive of donations that may have been given in other cities.

Response here was fine, it was said today at the chapter house. There were a number more registrants than could be accommodated because the maximum amount that can be processed each day is 175 pints.

March 20-22, the unit will be in New Wilmington, and March 23-25 in Bessemer. If any volunteer donors who could not be accommodated here, can go to either Bessemer or New Wilmington on one of the days the unit will be there, those who call the chapter house.

Only Part Of Miners Return In Wales

LONDON, March 13.—(INS)—The situation in the coal fields in Wales remained confused today with 64,000 Welsh miners failing to return to work in the pits although their leaders had urged them to do so.

Some 32,000 were estimated to have gone back into the pits, improving the situation somewhat.

Nazi Troops Are Reeling Back On 400-Mile Front

German Line From Upper Ukraine To South Of Dnieper River May Collapse

REDS MAKE 20 MILE ADVANCE IN ONE DAY

By NATALIA RENE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, March 13.—The entire Nazi line from the upper Ukraine to the south of the Dnieper river was in danger of collapse today before powerful new Soviet thrusts, which sent German troops reeling backward along a 400-mile front.

In a battlefront dispatch Pravda, the communist party newspaper described "panic-stricken Germans" throwing away food and equipment as the weight of the huge Russian offensive in the Ukraine bore remorselessly down on them.

Escape Routes Disrupted

Their escape routes in southern Russia disrupted by the mighty Red army drive that swept through more than 200 towns, the Nazis were falling steadily back toward Rumania and Czechoslovakia.

Motor-Borne Soviet infantry were pouring into the Gayvorin area where a 80-mile advance in a day's time sent the Reds to the Bug river, to consolidate and widen the bridgehead on the Bug's north bank.

Great new gains by the rampant Reds, their offensive unstopped by spring thaws that made roads veritable quagmires, imperiled German positions all the way along the 400-mile front from Tarnopol to the mouth of the Dnieper. Some battlefront dispatches suggested that collapse of Nazi Field Marshal Erich von Manstein's armies appeared imminent.

As Russian troops slugged their way ahead on the upper Ukraine following severance of the Proskurov-Guyvatyn railway—depriving Von Manstein of one of his last escape routes in old Poland—a powerful drive from Uman in the center of the Ukraine front rolled into more than 30 towns including Gayvorin, 38 miles southwest of Uman, and only 55 miles from Rumania, on the Bug river.

Red troops that stormed into Gayvorin advances nearly 20 miles in a single day after some of the bloodiest fighting of the new Ukraine offensive threatening Von Manstein's retreating forces and immediately threatening Adolf Hitler's Balkan satellite, Rumania.

The Russians used tanks and infantry in their drive stemming from Uman, and 2,500 Nazis were slain in one day's fighting.

When Soviet forces entered the district center of Dzhulinski, in Vinitsa province on the left bank of the Dnieper, they found a Chicken on Sunday was once a treat, for folks were accustomed to ordering meat, pot roasts and pork roasts and porterhouse steaks, baked ham and roast lamb and hamburger cakes. Chickens were used only now and again, those were the old days and suddenly then they brought in the rationing system and now you seldom get close to a piece from a cone. Steaks are a rarity, pot roasts the same, but chicken is right in this rationing game. And I'm dreaming of steaks thick and juicy and fine, but we haven't the points, weather's clear, thirty-nine.

cupied another enemy position northwest of Kyaukaw, on Friday. The new advances from Kalyabum by "Merrill's Marauders"—U. S. Doughboys commanded by Brig. Gen. Jap losses against the combined Sino-American army have been heavy and Allied losses light.

age units within neutral countries, Argentina, Spain, Tangier in the southern entrance to the Mediterranean, Turkey, and now Elre have been told to terminate all arrangements which permit the operation of enemy spies. Even the recently announced evacuation of Italian civilians from the battle areas of the peninsula is for that purpose.

To stop any possible espionage work through the battle lines. In other words, the Allies and the United Nations are attempting to draw a tight screen about their military operations which will prevent Hitler and his general staff from knowing what is about to take place.

Know Conditions

You may rest assured that the military intelligence of the United Nations has received authentic reports as to conditions in all those allegedly neutral countries. Recent governmental action would never have been publicly taken unless there was sound and good reason for so doing, and unless it was reliably known that the security of the democracies in regard to their war secrets was in jeopardy.

All of the neutral countries are insisting they will maintain their status of neutrality. If the democracies believe in the rights of self-determination for nations, they must grant and have granted to the neutrals the right to continue neutrals. But it should be definitely remembered that any activity which is a gross violation of that neutrality. In other words, if Argentina, Spain, and Elre are permitting Axis espionage within their countries, they are not neutral nations and are not entitled to the protection such status gives them with the United Nations.

The Bug, several hundred of Von Manstein's troops threw themselves into the swollen river in an attempt to swim to safety, but were drowned.

In the lower section of the blazon Dnieper front, northwest and west of the great mining center of Krivoi Rog, other Soviet forces took 30 localities in fierce fighting during which hundreds of German bodies were strewn on the battlefields.

West of Apostolovo, Russian troops fought their way to the Inghr river which they forced to capture Privoine, Nikolaev province district center.

Red forces immediately began to expand their holdings on the other side of the river, over which supplies had been flowing.

Arctic Indians utilized cocoa beans by grinding them with corn, then adding water and seasoning the resultant soup with chili, spices and herbs.

POSTWAR COMMITMENTS

BRITISH and other Allied officials who will participate at London late this month in conversations on postwar political and economic relations are hopeful that the American representative will be able to commit this country to definite plans of action.

Such reticence as there has been hitherto on the part of the United States apparently has been set down by the British to hesitancy by the administration to commit itself because it is a presidential election year.

Absence of any real commitment looking to the future, however, may be due not only to the vastness of the subject matter but also to rigid Constitutional separation of the powers of the legislative and executive branches.

What most foreigners to whom government means the parliamentary system fail to understand is that even a gentlemen's agreement as a statement of intent that may be entered into by one administration here is in no wise legally binding upon its successor.

Even an executive assured of continuity in office could not be certain that the joint treaty-making power of the Senate would not interfere with any international program to which he might most heartily subscribe.

The Founding Fathers wisely planned it that way.

SURVIVAL SHOOTING

When American airmen are forced to land in tropical jungles, in many cases they are forced to live off the land until they are rescued or able to rejoin Allied troops. Each is now equipped in addition to a "jungle kit" with a .45 caliber automatic pistol and cartridges loaded with shot.

The new shot cartridge contains approximately 120 No. 7 1/2 shot pellets. Pattern tests by ballistic research workers reveal that it will throw an average of 60 per cent of the shot charge into a circle 30 inches in diameter from a distance of 40 feet.

The new cartridge also greatly enhances chances of survival for fliers afloat at sea, since water fowl can be easily shot with it. Had this cartridge been in use by the air forces before the experience of Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, the sufferings of the famous flier and his crew would have been greatly diminished.

PLAN FOR TOURISTS

Pennsylvania communities are being urged by Floyd Chalfant, secretary of commerce, to study plans to attract pleasure travelers, tourists and vacationists in the postwar years.

"Pennsylvania's fourth largest commercial enterprise in normal years is the vacation and tourist business," said Mr. Chalfant, pointing out that in such years it amounts to well over $400,000,000.

"The urge to travel, to go on vacation, to see new places and visit old ones again will be decidedly keen—and so will the competition between states and even foreign countries. For that reason Pennsylvania must move ahead in its plans to entertain these visitors. The vacation and pleasure travel business can be made a still larger enterprise in this state for the economic welfare of the state and for the communities that see their opportunity and will make plans accordingly.

This business can be a very important link in the readjustment period between wartime and peacetime economies."

WE DON'T WANT ANY FIRE SALE

In assuming the presidency of the Canadian War Assets Corporation, which will dispose of the government's surplus holdings and properties, J. B. Carswell says he doesn't propose to allow any "fire sale."

The Dominion government's investment in war plants and materials is naturally much smaller than our own, which runs into billions of dollars, but the principle ruling their disposal should be the same.

After the first World War vast quantities of our government's goods were virtually given away to early comers. Later a little more business sense was shown, but the taxpayers had already suffered heavy losses.

In disposing of these assets care must be taken to guard against causing unemployment or driving small businesses to the wall. The Baruch report sounded a warning to this effect.

Our Mr. Clayton, whose job is similar to the Canadian official's, has promised to follow a sound, economical policy, even if his pledge is not phrased in the same forceful language.

MASS RUBBER OUTPUT

Higher cost of producing raw rubber in Central and South America, compared to the cost in Malaya and the East Indies, may be offset by a factor economists had not taken into consideration. It is that the soil and climate of Central America are capable of producing from three to four times as much rubber per acre as the soils and climate of Malaya and the East Indies.

This discovery is reported by Cooperative Rubber Plant field stations established in Costa Rica, Honduras and Haiti. Reports from South America are not yet available but it is believed that they will show up as well.

Before Pearl Harbor the United States obtained 94 per cent of its rubber, quinine, manila hemp, grass oils, rotenone insecticide, teakwood and a jute substitute from the far away Asiatic east, more than 4,000 miles from the closest port in this country. The remaining 6 per cent came from Central and South America.

Central and South America may yet become as world famous for mass production of raw rubber as the United States is for mass production of manufactures.

England will go on double war time this spring. It must be some experience to be eating lunch at the time one used to be cussing out the alarm clock.

Arabian Oil Controversy

WASHINGTON, March 13.—Ta find anything like the truth in this business of oil, you need jungle equipment for cutting through the underbrush. The light that filters down is dim and uncertain.

But I believe it's vitally important for Americans to try to get a picture of what is happening. I've talked to a dozen people in government and business who are on one side or the other of the controversy over oil in Arabia. In this and in a succeeding column I want to report the findings.

I'm going to try to keep pretty much on the factual side. Certainly the answer is not to yell "Imperialism" or "Fascism" or any other smear word. That kind of emotional oversimplification doesn't get anywhere.

Immensity Staggers

It is so big it takes your breath away. In Saudi Arabia, which is a vast expanse of desert in the Middle East, two American oil companies have a concession of 440,000 square miles in extent. That's approximately as big as Texas and California combined and there's a good chance that the oil wealth under those burning sands is greater than the fabulous fortune in oil which has come out of those same two states.

The companies are Standard Oil of California and the Texas Company. They began ten years ago to develop their empire, cultivating the ruler, Ibn Saud, drilling test wells, planning for the long future. To do this they spent many millions of dollars which would come back to them when the great bonanza got into production.

Without a war there might have been no question of government intervention. But the war precipitated it. The two companies and the Army-Navy Petroleum Board came together.

The ruler of Arabia wanted money. He wanted land-lease materials to develop his vast oil treasury. Weren't the British getting American materials to increase the production of their fields in neighboring Iran? These were reasons advanced in discussions a year ago for government partnership in what may be the biggest oil operation in history.

Argument Ensues

A great deal of the argument came from the military, particularly from the navy. To understand that you have to remember the way in which our leaders, military and political, are thinking of security in the future. They argue something like this:

"For our own protection we must keep the bases we have built around the world. We must keep a big navy. We must never lapse back into the unpreparedness that led up to the debacle in the Pacific."

A huge oil reserve in a distant part of the world fits perfectly into that picture. It is a key piece in that kind of security structure. So the project took shape with the U. S. government originally to have a one-third or one-fourth interest in the oil wealth under the Arabian sands. This was later eliminated, and the Petroleum Reserves Corporation, a government subsidiary to exploit foreign oil wealth, joined with the two private companies to build a 1250 mile pipeline from the oil concession to the eastern shore of the Mediterranean.

What happens next shows how hard it is for us to conduct any such venture—"Imperialism" many people call it—that touches foreign policy and economic rivalry. Immediately a killynny fight broke out within the U. S. oil industry.

Loud Opposition

The loud opposition came from two companies—Standard Oil of New Jersey and Socony Vacuum. These two companies hold a one-fourth interest in the highly profitable Iraq Petroleum company, next door to Arabia.

Iraq Petroleum is dominated and controlled by British interests. It emerged from the last war more or less as the new project promises to come out of this one. Our own Department of State applied pressure on the British to persuade them to cut the American companies in on the Iraq wealth. The refusal of Iraq Petroleum at Haifa has produced the gasoline that made it possible to go on with the war in the Mediterranean.

If a new American company developed Arabia's huge oil reserves, it might make things very tough for Iraq Petroleum with its two American partners. So the loud uproar and the cry of "Imperialism."

Inside the government in Washington, another fight has smoldered under the surface. I will deal with that tomorrow.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

DOCTOR AIRS VIEWS

"Dear Dr. Myers: 'Would you have a little child say pieces and the like before company?' The answer was 'No'."

"The above was from your column. I hope you will expand it should the occasion offer. I, for one, do not understand it. There must be other oldsters who would like to know why 'piece saying' has gone out of favor."

"I was in the grades during the 90's, a period when the memorizing of great poetry and even of great prose was much in vogue. Naturally, we 'said pieces,' if for no other reason than to demonstrate to ourselves and others that we had learned the lines. I do not remember that it seemed dreary to listen to the 'pieces' during opening exercises or during the Friday afternoon entertainment period. This was particularly the case if we knew the piece already."

"The child who recited had ample opportunity to be creative for although he did not compose the lines, he could make them mean much or little or nothing at all by the manner of his presentation. The verse which we, the audience, watched and compared, admired or criticized was comparable. I am sure, with that displayed in a modern school when that which is original is being presented. And incidentally, we were forming a memory book of great literature that lasts us all our life. Most of all, perhaps, was the benefit that came to us by the realization that great literature is worth multiple repetition—must have it, in fact, if its meaning is to be extracted. 'You will see what I am trying to get at. Will you not let us have your views on the subject in one or more articles?'"

The Doctor's Views

As I write the gentleman, I think I agree with most he says. However, the question he refers to applies to the young child. Even he might profit, in rare instances from "saying pieces" before company. The danger is that it might make him priggish and bore the guests and, as he grows older, the practice might be embarrassing to him.

Also many little children are harmed by "saying pieces." In public programs put on by the Sunday School, church and the like adults are inclined to laugh at the child when he forgets his lines. But as the observer implies, "saying pieces" before the class at school might have great value. Certainly in the second, third and higher grades, even in public programs.

The modern school assembly program of the intermediate and high schools should afford opportunity for this, in addition to the usual creative program. But, as I have on several occasions pointed out in this column, modern educators seem to suppose it a sin for a child to learn anything by heart even at Sunday School. The child who is encouraged at home and school by precept and example, to memorize many gems of great and lovely literature is fortunate.

England Main Target Of Weakened Luftwaffe
Germans Drop Tinfoil To Disrupt Detectors
Japanese Are Awaiting Chance To Fight Back

By HELEN ESSARY
Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 13.—Look out for a gradual shift in the European air war with the German Luftwaffe marshaling its dwindling, hard-pressed air force for all-out small scale nuisance raids on the Allied invasion ports in Britain.

Thus far, German air attacks have been limited to approximately 100 planes, and most of their bombs have smashed residential areas. But military observers are apprehensive about the amount of damage that can be done to vital military installations.

They point out that the Allies will not be deterred in their plans for an all-out invasion of western Europe, but that Nazi nuisance raids might create a certain amount of confusion and delay.

As the weather improves, the Luftwaffe is becoming bolder in its night sweeps over the British Isles. In recent raids, British night fighters and anti-aircraft gunners haven't been too successful in "bagging" enemy planes.

One reported reason is that Nazi pilots are dropping strips of tinfoil as they fly over the English channel to disrupt radar aircraft-detecting equipment. Competent military officials point out that German air attacks on the Allied invasion base are extremely small compared with the huge 1,000-plane R.A.F. and United States Air Force raids on the continent. But they add that Hitler has now reached the point of desperation where he must husband his aircraft on three fronts to be used where they will do the most harm. And this happens to be in the close-packed British Isles.

Barber Sees Change

B. E. BRIDEN, House of Representatives barber for the past 40 years, says that faces on Capitol Hill have changed greatly since he was a "35-year-old kid" cutting Speaker Joe Cannon's hair. The 75-year-old barber asserted that he had always been strictly non-partisan and had given every member whether Democrat or Republican the "best trim" he knew how to give.

"But faces keep changing," he said, "I miss the old heads."

Asked which member in his 40 years' experience had the best barber chair profile, Briden pondered. "What about Representative Clare Luze?" the reporter suggested.

"I don't believe I know him," the old-timer smiled.

Will Clayton, Texas-born surplus property administrator, sees no need for legislation to enable him to carry out his job—one of the toughest post-war assignments.

Clayton asserted that the post-war surplus program is a policy-making job with actual operating functions to be performed through existing war agencies. Moreover, it is understood the Texas agrees with Bernard Baruch that no additional agencies are needed.

Baruch has opposed the Senate proposal for an office of demobilization. Clayton admits he has a head-on collision with him and may prove a job that will make him or break him.

"I almost had my ticket bought for Houston," he said wryly.

WATERMELON

Watermelon is one of the things which we eat because we like it. It does not provide very much nourishment. Weight for weight potatoes contains about four times as much.

It is not very strong on vitamins either. In spite of its short comings we love it still.

It looks good and tastes good. It makes the stomach feel satisfied and still want another piece.

Watermelon is like a pretty girl. She may not be as efficient as her plainer sister but the boys buzz around her.

Watermelon and sauerkraut seem to have no scientific reason for being so popular. They get there just the same.

Perhaps we have something to learn yet.

O.P.A. Plans For Same Values
For Gasoline Coupons In Second Quarter

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 13.—The O.P.A. closed the books today on its second season of fuel-oil rationing by validating period five coupons in the East and Far West, effective tomorrow, at 10 gallons per unit—the same value that has prevailed all winter.

At the same time, the agency announced a plan to eliminate one large source of "black market" gasoline by making the five-gallon "R" coupons issued to farmers and other non-highway users invalid for buying gasoline at filling stations, with certain exceptions.

Another week-end disclosure was the report from the Petroleum Administration for War that enough gasoline would be made available during the second quarter of 1944 to maintain the present values of motorists' coupons. A reduction had been anticipated.

PAW officials said, however, that quotas would be increased sufficiently to keep coupons at their present values and, at the same time, care for the seasonal rise in farm and non-highway requirements.

Dry Up Illegal Markets
The O.P.A. said the scheme to dry up illegal markets in excess non-highway coupons had received a successful trial in Georgia and Florida during February and won the approval of both farm groups and gasoline dealers. It will go into effect nationally on April 1.

The essence of the plan is to make "R" coupons invalid for filling station purchases unless the establishment has received permission from the O.P.A. district director to accept such tickets on grounds that more than half of its business consists of bulk sales.

This means that after April 1 only non-highway users who buy their gasoline at bulk plants or have it delivered into storage tanks on their own premises, will use the "R" coupons, while those who get their gasoline at other retail outlets will use the one-gallon "E" coupons.

Farmers who do buy most of their gasoline at filling stations will have until April 1 to exchange "R" coupons for the "E" type of local ration boards. Farmers, it was explained, frequently find themselves with more coupons than they use and some tickets find their way into the hands of "black market" operators. Rations are issued on estimated probable consumption.

Rename Airfield Taken From Japs

Air Strip Seized On Los Negros
Island Is Named "Wainwright Field" By Yanks

By LEE VAN ETTA
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WITH AMERICAN FORCES in Admiralty Island, March 12.—(Delayed)—The strategic air strip seized from the Japanese on Los Negros Island today in honor of the Yank commander who was captured in the Philippines when Bataan and Corregidor fell.

The men who wrested the air strip, formerly known as Momote from the Japs at one time were under command of Lieut. Gen. Janath Wainwright, the officer who remained in charge of American and Filipino forces at Bataan when Gen. Douglas MacArthur was assigned to Australia.

Brig. Gen. William Chase, of El Paso, Tex., and Providence, R. I., commander of the American Cavalry forces which captured the important airdrome last week, formally dedicated the new Allied air strip.

Already In Use
Wainwright Field, only a week after its occupation, is already being used by Royal Australian fighters and United States planes which are keeping a ceaseless patrol over the scene of the newest landing in the Southwest Pacific.

Gen. Wainwright was commander before Pearl Harbor of the brigade elements which invaded and then captured Momote just before he was assigned to the Far East.

"We named it that on honor of the general," Gen. Chase said in explaining the choice of Wainwright. "It mainly because we are on our way back to him."

Civilization has sprung up where war and the Japanese existed only ten days ago. The coral-bedded Wainwright airdrome resounds now to the daily roar of patrolling fighter planes where only a few days ago single aircraft made hazardous landings to bring supplies and mail into the American forces which occupied Los Negros Island.

Members Of Gideons And Auxiliary Meet

Members of the New Castle camp of Gideons and their ladies auxiliary met for their monthly business session at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chappell, 836 Franklin avenue, over the week-end.

The devotional period was led by Mr. Chappell.

There was group singing with Mrs. Rose Bender as accompanist.

Plans were made for a meeting at Volant Methodist church, and a meeting at Sharpsville was reported.

It was reported that New Testaments amounting to 5,000 per month are being distributed among soldiers at Camp Reynolds. Bibles have been placed in the Hodge and Campbell funeral homes and the Al-mira Home.

Misses Elizabeth Choco, Esther Krempel and Alma Nunley, girls' trio, gave a number of vocal selections.

The auxiliary session was in charge of Mrs. A. H. Robb.

The ladies are distributing New Testaments to hospital nurse cadets, nurses leaving for U. S. service, WAVES, WACS, SPARS. There is a Gideon display in the windows of Strous-Hirschberg.

den Japan's main fleet—bolstered by new battleships, aircraft carriers and cruisers.

Elsewhere, mighty American fleets prowled millions of square miles of water hoping for contact that may prove to be the greatest naval battle the world has ever seen, or may ever see again.

The question in the minds of the navy's high command is when—and where—the clash occur.

Naval officers will tell you that the Japs have been playing a wise game. They are refusing to risk their main fleet in battle unless they are sure of victory. They may also be waiting for the United States to extend her lines until they are so long the fleet will be kept busy protecting them.

Spreading the American fleet over a wider and wider area reduces its size. Japan hopes it will be reduced to a size the Nips can master. However, British, French and Italian ships are expected to join the Pacific war soon.

Before that time arrives there is a possibility that the Japs will launch an all-out attack on some of the weaker points in the American-Alleed Pacific front to gain a face saving victory.

A fight over land and frying fat led to the British government taking over India in 1857. Native troops employed by the East India company rebelled because cartridges which had to be torn with the teeth were greased with the fat of pigs and cows, pigs being abhorred by Mohammedans and cows being sacred to Hindus. As a result, Great Britain took over the government.

Toys Carved By Injured Yank

Concussions Of Big Bomb Rendered Soldier Blind And Paralyzed For Long Time

QUINCY, Ill., March 13.—(INS)—Jimmy Brown of Quincy lay blind and paralyzed in a North African hospital nine months ago.

Today he is making sturdy Easter bunnies and brightly painted ducks for children's playrooms.

The future, Jimmie said, looked pretty bleak after he was disabled by the concussion of a large bomb dropped near the tank on which he was working in North Africa. He liked his problem, however, in his own way.

Now, recovered from the worst effects of his injuries, the former soldier has begun the business career of toy-making, which he hopes will find for him a permanent place in his community.

His Uncle Made Toys
"My uncle was a toy-maker," he said. "Maybe the knack of making toys runs in the family."
After I returned home, I still was far from well. I had been warned not to attempt any heavy work. I was unable to stand loud noises and strong sunlight.

Realizing he must plan a future, the youth said:
"The idea of making a toy just passed the time occurred to me one day. I decided to try my hand at carving a General Sherman tank, a replica of the one in which I served in Tunisia. My only tool was a small knife, but after a few days I turned out the completed tank."

Carves Guns, Tanks
People who saw the miniature tank asked questions and, said Brown, that gave him another idea: "Why not make replicas of other vehicles used in war?" That was his start.

"I started getting some tools here and there. I made a field gun, then a jeep and later a lorry. I knew they were exact replicas of the big machines around which I worked as an armorer. I sold quite a few of them, mostly before Christmas."

The former armorer has a workshop now, equipped with a power-driven wood-working tools. Easter toys are his specialty this season and brightly painted rabbits and ducks on wheels are his merchandise.

A new group of industrial girls will meet at the Y. W. C. A. on Thursday evening, March 16, at 8 o'clock for a social time and to organize a club. Lucille Ross will be in charge of this meeting. The club will meet at the Y. W. every other Thursday evening.

Many Sunday Schools And Churches Gain In Campaign On Sunday

With favorable weather conditions yesterday, points were plentiful in the "Victory" Pre-Easter increase campaign being sponsored by the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association, and this was the best Sunday in the matter of attendance since this increase effort was started. The church attendance was also good.

In the First New Castle, Group the Third U. P. S., who have been leading for three Sundays, were overtaken and passed by the First Presbyterians who had their best attendance for some time. In the Second, New Castle, Group, the Central Presbyterians had a good day with the First Christians in second place. In the Third, New Castle, Group, the Mahoning Methodist Sunday school was "Tops" and in the Fourth, New Castle, Group, the St. John's Lutheran registered the highest per cent of the campaign to date.

In the county, outside of New Castle, the following are the total points for Wampum District: Moravia Presbyterian, 33; Newport Methodist, 25; Wampum Presbyterian, 20; Clinton Methodist, 3; and West Pittsburg Methodist, 2. In the Wilmington District, New Wilmington U. P., 88; New Wilmington Methodist, 86; Neshannock Presbyterian, 24; East Brook U. P., 23; Rich Hill Presbyterian, 12; and Volant Presbyterian with yesterday's results not in.

The Second U. P. still holds first place in the church attendance standing.

More figures of Sunday schools not yet reported, will be published later this week.

"One-Man Army"

SGT. CHARLES E. KELLY, above, is now known as the "One Man Army" of the 36th (Texas) Division because of his exploit—he killed 40 Germans in battle at Alcatraz, Italy. (International)

KILLED JAPS LIKE 10-PINS

A SOUTH PACIFIC BASE, March 13.—(INS)—Maj. Edward Lerner of 3234 Lyon street, San Francisco, Calif., died in action last April, but is affectionately remembered by his squadron as "Iron Pants."

Five Air Corps officers, on their way back to the States after months of fighting the Japs in New Guinea, like to tell of the time Lerner's squadron was part of a mission sent out after a big Jap convoy.

The B-17s were supposed to tackle the convoy first from a high altitude. Then the B-24s were to soften it up further. At this point Lerner's group was to take over with a low-level bombing and strafing attack.

By some slip-up, Lerner's squadron got to the spot 25 minutes ahead of time.

"There we were," one of the pilots said, "wondering what we were supposed to do next. We didn't have much time to wait."

They spotted the convoy and Iron Pants took right off after a Jap destroyer. His first bomb hit amidships, and smoke began to pour.

"The way we figured it, was that if Iron Pants could hit a destroyer that easy, the transports would be a cinch. We stopped being scared and made a run for the convoy," the pilot continued.

In a few minutes, nearly the whole convoy was aflame. The squadron flew at 50 feet, nearly grazing the smokestacks, picking off one ship after another. They scored 24 direct hits out of 30 bombs dropped.

"It was a regular rat-race," said the pilot. "Never saw anything like it. We could see the Japs going down like ten-pins."

Two Sergeants Die In Barracks Fire

FORT SHERIDAN, Ill., March 13.—(INS)—Two Army sergeants, both veterans of World War I, lost their lives in a fire which swept through a two and a half story barracks at Fort Sheridan, Col. John T. Rhett, post commander, announced today.

Three soldiers were injured in the blaze, which was estimated to have caused $100,000 damage. They included Pvt. Lester C. Paden, 29, of Franklin, Pa.

Gene Autry To Become Flyer

HOLLYWOOD, March 13.—(INS)—After months of effort, Gene Autry, former singing cowboy of the movies, is getting his wish. The army is transferring him to the ferry command.

The one-time king of western pictures leave Hollywood today for Detroit, where he hopes to become a flying sergeant at the nearby Romulus ferry command air base.

ELEVEN DAYS ADRIET, SEES TWO PALS DIE

COLLINGSWOOD, N. J., March 13.—(INS)—An 11-day ordeal on a life raft, during which his two companions died and he was without food or water for six days, was described in a letter received today from Lieut. Paul J. Madden, 24, Ferry Command pilot.

Madden was reported missing in action after his plane, with two other officers aboard, crashed Jan. 20 off the Florida coast. The three men took to their rubber raft. On the sixth day, one of the officers died from exposure. The second expired on the 11th day.

"About an hour later, I was all set to go under, too," Madden wrote. "But I looked up—and there was a big boat towering above me." He had been discovered by an oil tanker.

GOVERNOR BRICKER IN NEW ENGLAND

BOSTON, Mass., March 13.—(INS)—Gov. John W. Bricker, swinging through New England today in his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination, called for a "dynamic" post-war federal economy and not a static system.

Speaking at the Boston university on "post-war problems," Bricker conceded that governor regulation will be needed to prevent abuses. "But there is a vast difference between regulation and regimentation," he added. "Political ownership or management of agriculture commerce and industry has no place in our free economy."

RAISE OLD SUBMARINE

WATERFORD, Conn. — (INS)—Salvage operations are underway to raise one of the first submarines ever commissioned in the U. S. Navy.

The G-2, sunk during World War One. The G-2 is being raised after more than 25 years from the bottom of Two-Tree Channel by a Boston marine salvage company.

URGES ELIMINATION OF CAUSES OF WAR

ITHACA, N. Y., March 13.—(INS)—The prime objective of education, both national and international, must be the elimination of those barriers of custom, language, ignorance and misinformation which in the past have bred misunderstanding, suspicion, envy and hate, leading to war.

So declared William Littlewood, vice president of American Airlines, in a symposium on postwar education at Cornell.

Larry E. Gubb, chairman of Philco Corporation, declared that far more extensive education than ever before will be needed after the war.

"This will be especially true in the physical sciences whose frontiers have been vastly extended during the war," he said.

AMERICANS TO HONOR

LATE SUN-YAT-SEN

NEW YORK, March 13.—(INS)—The nineteenth anniversary of the death of Sun Yat-sen, first president of China and beloved by his countrymen as "the Father of the Chinese Republic," were celebrated at programs throughout the United States on March 12.

Pearl S. Buck was the chief speaker at the New York observance at which six Chinese naval officers, selected by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek for training in this country, were guests of honor.

GRANDPA ON WHEELS

PHILADELPHIA. — (INS)—Seventy-one-year-old William C. Eastwick, retired insurance company employee, might be called the Quaker City's "skatingest" man. Gasoline rationing and crowded transportation facilities don't bother

Eastwick. Fortified with a pair of roller skates, he can be seen skating to market, to visit friends, or just out for a spin practically any day of the week.

Last year there were 80,000 skaters giving service in the United States while today there are but 50,000. And if recent figures are reliable between 40 and 45 per cent of these will be relegated to the junk pile by August.

Jap Aircraft Is Reluctant To Battle PT Boats

Lt. Cmdr. John Bulkeley Says War Situation Changed In Pacific For U. S. Forces

By JEANETTE SMITS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

BAYONNE, N. J., March 13.—(INS)—Lieut. Cmdr. John Bulkeley, decorated hero of the Navy's PT boat squadrons in the Southwest Pacific, declares that Japanese aircraft recently have shown a reluctance to press home attacks to the end against the small but potent craft.

Commander Bulkeley made his assertion at a news conference at the Electric Boat Company's ELCO naval division plant in Bayonne prior to addressing the workers of the firm, which manufactures the PT boats.

Bulkeley, who took Gen. Douglas MacArthur from Corregidor by PT boat when the commander-in-chief of the American and Filipino forces was ordered by President Roosevelt to leave the garrison, is back in the United States with a case of malaria. At present he is a patient at Brooklyn Naval Hospital, but is eager to return to active sea duty as soon as possible.

Telling of the campaigns of the American PT boats against the Japanese supply and troop barges in the New Guinea area, where he has been in action for the past year and a half, the commander said:

"During the last stages of the campaign, the Japs fortified the principal points along the barge traffic routes, causing us a great deal of trouble to destroy the barges.

"We had many short engagements with enemy aircraft which particularly liked to bomb us at night. But I noticed the Japanese were reluctant to press home any of their attacks and finish off the fight with one or the other of us out of action."

Commander Bulkeley said it was a great contrast to the early engagements in the Philippine theater where it was either death for the Japs or themselves.

"In summary," said the commander, "the Southwest Pacific is definitely looking up with the men and equipment constantly coming into their own."

"The quality of our material is definitely superior to the Japs and the morale of our personnel far out-ranks anything the Japs can throw against us, at this point of the war."

HARLANSBURG

Letters of thanks from the boys in service were read. Leaders for April are Helen Burnside, Lena Mathewson, Don McKnight, Dorothy Kildoo with devotions by Alice Gibson and Rev. Mathewson overseer. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Helen Kildoo, after which games were played.

GREENVILLE, Pa. — (INS) — Pvt. Davidson was a craft instructor when a civilian and has introduced many new and interesting ideas in arts and crafts to the Grey Lady instructors.

Start Collection Of Musical Instruments For Men At Front

City-wide collection of musical instruments for the soldiers at the front begins here today. A part of a nation-wide campaign to provide our fighting men with the means of making their own music, the drive is directed at rounding up the hundreds of saxophones, banjos, and other instruments that lie forgotten in closets and attics throughout the city.

Sponsored by the army as a means of building the morale of our fighting men, collection of musical instruments will make it possible for soldiers all over the world to form orchestras in their camps or posts, or to gather around in the evening and "make music."

The army has requested "Coca-Cola" Bottlers all over the country to act as agents for this campaign. Anybody having any unused musical instruments may take them to any grocery store, filling station, drug store or other place that sells bottled Coca-Cola. The trucks of the Lawrence Bottling & Mfg. Co., Coca-Cola distributors, have agreed to pick the instruments up at these places and ship them off to the army which in turn will distribute them to the soldiers.

Any instrument except pianos, bull fiddles, or phonographs are urgently needed, according to Mr. A. A. Streib, manager of the local Bottling Company. He points out that because of war production demands, it has not been possible to manufacture as many musical instruments as are needed in our army camps. The drive will last through March 27.

TRAVEL BAN AS RESULT OF STAND TAKEN BY EIRE

British Isles and Ireland, including both Eire and Ulster, as a direct answer to Premier Eamon De Valera's refusal to oust Axis diplomats from Dublin.

The Daily Herald report said that British forces in Ulster (northern Ireland) and American military police had been organized to combat the purported I. R. A. plans.

Earlier in the war the I. R. A. had been reported in constant contact with the Germans, its members providing the Nazis with information. Members in Ulster voiced strenuous objection to the presence of United States troops in northern Ireland when the first American expeditionary forces were sent across.

In London it was learned that the Ulster government, in full cooperation with the United States and Britain, is taking immediate steps to seal off effectively the 26 counties of Eire to the south and subject the frontier to rigid control and censorship.

The action, it was emphasized, is not tantamount to sanctions, but purely a matter of security. Border guards will be strengthened and if necessary British troops will assist local customs and excise enforcement officers.

While no sanctions are envisaged against Eire, it was emphasized that stricter control of all exports by Britain to Eire will be put into effect to insure that no goods useful to the British war efforts are exported.

At the present time hundreds of persons cross the frontier daily merely by showing identity cards.

Whether further measures will be taken immediately by Britain in connection with the Irish situation beyond the travel ban was a matter of conjecture.

Details of plans by the I. R. A. to retard the British war effort, said the Herald, were found during police raids on Belfast.

Large numbers of I. R. A. members working in Britain and northern Ireland were said to have created trouble at various plants previously.

Many leaders already were reported arrested and police were said to be engaged in combing out of northern Ireland all persons suspected as I. R. A. sympathizers. These persons have been told to return to Eire and remain there.

First Direct Result
The restrictions on travel from Britain to Ireland came as the first direct result of De Valera's refusal to comply with the allied request to send Axis diplomats and consular officials away from southern Ireland.

The British sought by the move to plug leakage of information concerning allied military plans and the disposition of invasion forces. Some quarters felt the ban placed the first step in contemplated allied measures to deal with the Eire problem. It was believed that economic sanctions and a cut in shipping to points in Eire from allied ports still are under consideration.

A dispatch from northern Ireland to the Daily Mail said that the recent decision of the United States not to sell to Eire two merchant vessels was only a "pointer" to the severe economic pressure which may now be brought to bear.

The order issued by the British home office affects an estimated 600,000 nationals of Eire, including possibly as many as 300,000 who have taken war jobs in Britain and an estimated 300,000 serving the British armed forces.

Only in extreme cases, for "business work of urgent national importance or on compassionate grounds of the most urgent and compelling character" will travel between Britain and Ireland be permitted after today.

No Sensation
Dispatches from Dublin said that the news of the travel ban failed to cause any sensation in the Irish Free State since some sort of action along this line had been expected in the past few days.

Great uneasiness was caused, however, among the relatives of Eire nationals working in Britain. Newspapers in Eire did not comment immediately on the ban.

The home office order stated that from March 13 until further notice no more permits or visas from travel between Britain and Ireland will be granted beyond certain specified rare exceptions.

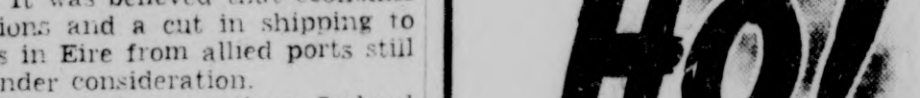

No further leave certificates for Irish workers to return to Ireland from Britain will be granted," the home office said.

The ban served to stop one channel through which the Nazi lezation in Germany was able to obtain information but the continued presence of legation officials in Dublin leaves open a point through which information still could be passed on to Berlin.

Cobra venom preparations are used to relieve pain.

Dies Committee May Start Probe Of Broadcasters

WASHINGTON, March 13.—(INS)—Rep. Martin Dies (D) Tex., announced today the House committee on un-American activities may launch an investigation of the broadcasting industry on charges that "certain companies" are distributing un-American propaganda.

Dies, chairman of the committee, said it is likely the probe will result in the subpoena of "scripts of certain radio commentators over a period of several years," as well as sponsors and officials of broadcasting companies.

"Many people in the country are beginning to suspect that certain broadcasting companies are in collusion with certain sponsors to mold public opinion by propaganda," Dies said in a prepared statement.

"Our committee is being urged to investigate this matter on the grounds that it is distinctly un-American."

"We may subpoena the scripts of certain radio commentators over a period of several years for careful study."

The committee also will consider the manner in which materials no longer needed for war production shall be released for civilian production, one of the most important problems which will confront industry in the transition from war to peace.

First meeting of the committee will be held in Washington, April 4. At that time the committee will discuss war control termination problems with various government representatives.

RUNAWAYS DINE THEN TAKE FLIGHT AGAIN

Nick Cupido, 14, and Andy Hruska, 16, Miller avenue and Terrace avenue, respectively, were not satisfied with having run away once but ran away twice—the latter time after having enjoyed a good meal at Sewickley several days ago, according to police.

They decamped from their homes and were apprehended at Sewickley. Mrs. Cupido, mother of Nick, went to Sewickley and the boys were placed in her care. Like all mothers she got them a nice meal at Sewickley—and they ran away after they had partaken thereof, police headquarters stated today.

Finnish Peace Moves Are Taking Decisive Turn

BULLETIN
LONDON, March 13.—(INS)—Finnish armistice moves have taken a new and decisive turn, informed quarters in London disclosed tonight.

After prolonged examination of Russian peace conditions, the Finnish government has sent a communication to Moscow dealing particularly with difficulties attending internment of German troops in Finland, which the Russians demanded.

The Soviets have now sent a reply to this communication, a copy of which was forwarded to the British government in London.

"Sticking to our rights is Finland's strongest weapon," the Finnish radio said today, quoting the conservative newspaper Helsingin Huvudblad with regard to the possibilities of peace with Russia.

"This does not mean the Finnish people will adopt a cool attitude toward attempts to get Finland out of the war," the newspaper said.

STOCK MARKET MOVES HIGHER

Upwelling Continues In Trading
In New York Market
During Morning

NEW YORK, March 13.—(INS)—The stock market resumed its upswelling this morning, although gains were small and buying was less insistent than in last week's rally.

Trading was active with sales again running above a million shares.

Western Union A was a feature, rising a point to a new high before falling back slightly. Steels were firm at fractionally higher prices, as were the motors, rails and aviation.

Liquors again were higher, with Schenley, last week's feature, hitting a new top on a large fractional gain. Utilities were steady in comparatively quiet trading.

Easing slightly were the farm equipments and oils, where Standard Oil of New Jersey and Standard Oil of California were both off small fractions.

The bond market was dull, with prices holding within small fractions of last week's close.

Why there are "WAITING LISTS"

Many people who want telephone service today must go on "waiting lists."

The "waiting lists" and the "waits" are lengthening from week to week.

The reason is shortages of telephone facilities—wire, central office equipment, telephones. More than two years of war have used up most of the "margins" which have always been built into Bell System telephone plant.

Western Electric Company, peace-time producer of telephone equipment for the Bell System, is now engaged almost exclusively in production for the Army and Navy. It is the largest producer of electronic and other war communications equipment in the United States.

And there is no let-up in the communications needs of the Army and Navy.

Thus, production for the civilian communications needs of America is virtually at a standstill. Reserve supplies of telephones and telephone facilities are all but wiped out. To expand production of telephone equipment for civilian use would take not only materials, but also skilled manpower which cannot be diverted from production for war.

The construction of new telephone facilities, new telephone switchboards, new telephone cable lines, new telephone buildings, will begin as quickly as war-time demand permits the manufacture of the equipment from which they are built.

It is impossible today to fill orders for normal civilian needs without delays.

Every effort has been made—and will be made—to spread the limited telephone facilities so as to serve the greatest possible numbers with the least possible delays.

But there can be no delays in meeting the communications needs of war industry and of our armed forces. They cannot be put on any "waiting list."

Big Leaguers Begin Marching Into Spring Camps

Officials Greet Campaign Optimistically; All Squads Hit By Draft, Industries

Training Program In Full Stride Within Week; Championship Yankees Reach Atlantic City; Moguls Feel Certain 1944 Season Will Be Completed, Regardless Of Brand Of Baseball Offered.

By LAWTON CARVER
INS Sports Editor

NEW YORK, March 13.—For the second war year in a row preparations for a baseball season began today in the snow-bound and rain-spattered training camps of the East and Mid-West in keeping with travel restrictions and to the chagrin of the few who envisioned a return to the sun-burnished, palm-fringed settings of the South and West. The frapped spring festivities will be on in full swing within a week or so for every major league club, with most of them due to have at least the nucleus of a workout squad on hand before this evening. All are hard-hit by the draft and war industries, but every official greeted the start toward the 1944 campaign with the firm conviction that the season will be finished, regardless of the brand of baseball that may be offered to the cash clientele.

Manager Joe McCarthy of the world champion Yankees arrived at his Atlantic City camp over the week-end to await the arrival of his depleted squad, with the welcome mat on the doorstep for all hands whether they are signed or looking for an argument over their paychecks.

All Hard Hit
As the boss of the No. 1 team viewed the situation, he had no more to worry about than of the rest. He has lost some manpower since last season, will lose others within a few weeks and must rely on 4-F elderly veterans and youngsters, but so do most of the clubs and the Yankees have the advantage of at least being on top at the moment. They are the ones the rest will have to knock down.

The St. Louis Cardinals are in much the same position in the National League as they begin preparations at Cairo, Ill., for defense of their National League pennant.

Exactly how many stars the two championship clubs will be missing before the season gets well under way is conjectural, but both certainly will be without some of their outstanding performers—a few already called to the colors.

The result is likely to bring about a pair of wide open races, baseball men agree, as the clubs began their preliminaries at the following sites:

American League
New York Yankees at Atlantic City, N. J.; Boston Red Sox at Tufts College and Baltimore; Detroit Tigers at Evansville, Ind.; Philadelphia Athletics at Fredericksburg, Md.; Chicago White Sox, French Lick, Ind.; St. Louis Browns at Cape Girardeau, Mo.; Cleveland Indians at Bloomington, Ind.; Washington Senators at College Park, Md.

National League
St. Louis Cardinals at Cairo, Ill.; Cincinnati Reds at Bloomington, Ind.; Brooklyn Dodgers at Bear Mountain, N. Y.; Pittsburgh Pirates at Muncie, Ind.; Chicago Cubs at French Lick, Ind.; Boston Braves at Wallingford, Conn.; Philadelphia Phillies at Wilmington, Del.; New York Giants at Lakewood, N. J.

His observation came following the arrival of the vanguard of Red players and officials for the start of training today in the University of Indiana fieldhouse.

SOX START FRIDAY

CHICAGO—The Chicago White Sox will start spring training next Friday at French Lick, Ind., but how many athletes will report was clouded in uncertainty.

There are 36 names on the roster, but several are hazarding over salaries and several others may learn any minute that they are due for military service. The Chicago Cubs, who also train at French Lick, will show up the following Monday.

CARDS-BROWNS READY

ST. LOUIS—Most of the prospective pre-season roster for the St. Louis Cardinals and Browns already have signed contracts and will be on hand for the opening of training camps next Monday.

The National leaguers will launch train training at Cairo, Ill., while the Americans make their start at Cape Girardeau, Mo.

ATHLETICS DRILLING

FREDERICK, Md.—With a quorum of his 1944 Athletics on hand today at the Frederick Md. training base, Connie Mack announced that Outfielders Bobby Estalella and Ripper Radcliff may be back in the fold this year.

The Cuban was traded to Indianapolis for Jo Jo Moore last fall but the former Giant was drafted and Connie took Estalella back.

Burnham Second

Second in the Columbian, forty yards behind Dodds, was Don Burnham of Dartmouth, with Bill Hulse of the New York A. C. third and Rudy Summs of New York University last.

After his mile victory, Dodds went on to score a triumph in the 1000-yard run, whipping Les Eisenhart, of Ohio, after moving from last place to the lead on the third lap. Al Daily of the New York A. C. trailed Eisenhart, with Hulse and Johnny Fulton, West Coast star, in the bunch.

Dodds was clocked in 1:12 for the 1000, seconds behind the late John Borican's world record of 2:08.8.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Hansen Jewelers, member of the Maywood Center's 850 Scotch League created a national season's bowling record for league teams when they rolled a game of 1,262 at Maywood, Calif. It was sandwiched in between 845 and 995 to give them a 3,012 total. The amazing game came as follows: William "Pop" Ross, 267; Dick Daly, 183; Jack Stewart, 245; Walt Green, 390; Bob Quackenbush, 267. Ross is a veteran of 70 years and in the 1941 ABC tournament at St. Paul rolled in the team event with his four sons. Quackenbush suffered the only tragedy when, after nine strikes in a row, he left up the ten pin and missed it. Had he made this spare and obtained a strike in the "11th," his game would have been good for 12 more pins and his team could have put a 1,274 game on the books. The 1,262 total is well ahead of the 1,219 rolled on Jan. 19 by the Bowles Seal Fast team of Indianapolis. If the 1,262 total means high for the remainder of the calendar year, members of the team will receive gold awards from the American Bowling Congress.

Bowlers Victory Legion today announced the purchase of 133,000 pocket-sized books and an additional 100,000 decks of playing cards. They will be delivered to the war department which will send them to every war front. The books will be sorted into libraries of 100 each. In addition to the above, Bowlers Victory Legion has given the war department 100,000 decks of playing cards and 15,000 fishing kits which have been distributed all over the world. Money for the purchase of the above items comes from the bowlers of the nation who are participating in the BVL campaign and have been asked to give $1 each for the overseas recreational fund.

Dad and daughter—Joe Fulton, 1936 ABC champion from Indianapolis, is a member of the well-known Bowles Seal Fast team. His daughter, Gene Drexler, is a good bowler and a member of the Ideal Furlures. The night her team won the city handicap title with 2,967, his team rolled 2,967 to take the lead in the men's city tournament. A few nights later her team shot 2,901 in the Star-Times handicap; his rolled 2,901 in a tournament at Muncie, Ind. Bill Heneen, bowling scribe of the Minneapolis Star Journal, is now a marine. Bowlers from 23 towns in 33 states and the Territory of Hawaii have given the Bowlers Victory Legion a total of $144,000 for its overseas recreation fund, which isn't hay.

Frank Coen, game protector for Lawrence county, is on the trail of youths who reportedly have interfered with traps set by other youths to trap rabbits in the vicinity of the end of Delaware avenue. According to Coen, the traps either have been removed or set in new places. The boys who had been setting the traps had been doing it to catch rabbits for liberation in rural sections. Coen advised that the persons who took the traps should return them to their rightful owners immediately.

Lawrence County Sportsmen's association will meet at 8 p. m. Tuesday in the Neeshanock hall, V. F. W. No. 315 which is located on East Washington street. Corporal Caplan, attached to special service at Camp Reynolds, was a local visitor yesterday. He said two of the boys who passed through Camp Reynolds had won pugilistic titles in North Africa. They were named Thomas and Palumbo. Thomas assisted Sgt. Walsh when one of the Camp Reynolds boys boxed in the Deshon hospital benefit at Taggart stadium. Palumbo fought at Farrell before going overseas.

CHICAGO, March 13.—(INS)—The Michigan Wolverines, demonstrating a greater superiority than ever before, were the undisputed champions of the Big Ten conference today in indoor track events.

The Wolverines won the indoor track championship in the University of Chicago fieldhouse Saturday night with a total of 751-4 points, well above the 531 points which they won last year's competition, which also was a record.

Soldier Vote Bill Debate Begins In U. S. Senate Today

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 13.—The Senate opens debate today on the compromise soldiers' vote bill with approval expected after bitter debate but with a strong possibility that President Roosevelt will veto the measure.

A Senate canvass by party leaders indicated a large majority of Republicans and perhaps half the Democrats will support the compromise, although its approval will be strongly fought by Sens. Green (D. R. I.) and Lucas (D. Ill.), co-authors of the original federal ballot bill.

Sen. Connally (D. Texas), planned to lend the fight for adoption of the compromise worked out by a joint Senate-House conference committee, which leans heavily to emphasis on state absentee voting laws. "I think the Senate will approve it," Connally said. "I expect two-thirds of the Senate to support it."

Odds Favor Approval

Green conceded that odds favor approval of the measure because, he said, "there is a tendency on the part of members to approve a conference report so they will be done with a bill."

"They may not be done with this bill," he added. "I hope the president vetoes it."

The measure provides: A federal ballot for overseas men and women provided the governor of their state certifies that the state has made no provision for their voting, and provided they have applied for a state ballot before September 1 and have not received it by Oct. 1. A congressional recommendation that states immediately enact appropriation legislation to assure members of the armed service getting a state absentee ballot in any primary, special or general election. Directs the secretaries of war and navy and the war shipping administration to co-operate with states, "wherever practicable and compatible with military operations" in delivering state absentee ballots.

Recommends that states change laws, if necessary, to make absentee ballots available for mailing to voters 45 days before election.

Prohibits political polls among service men and women. A strong anti-political section is included, under which it is made unlawful for any federal official or employee to cause delivery to the armed forces any literature or material sponsored by a government agency which contains political argument and propaganda designed to affect the election.

The provision, however, is modified by a statement that it will not prevent distribution of books, magazines, or newspapers to servicemen, nor prevent impartial presentation of political or other news either by these means or by motion picture films or radio broadcasts.

Warren County Coroner Probes Death Of Three Stockyards At Cleveland Will Be In Operation

WARREN, Pa., March 13.—(INS)—Two deaths, apparently from heart attacks, and a fatal highway accident were investigated by Coroner Ed. C. Lowrey of Warren county over the week-end.

George J. Zobrest, 33-year-old father of six, was fatally injured when struck by a truck as he watched another man change a tire of a car in which he had been riding. The truck, police said, was driven by Harry Sorber, Jr., of Wilkes-Barre, and was owned by the Sargent Construction Company, of Kingston.

At Sheffield, Wiles Buzzard, a fireman at the Warren State Hospital, dropped dead from a heart attack while visiting at the home of some friends.

Elmer P. Peterson, for 15 years an employee of the Hammond Iron Works, was found dead in bed at his Warren home Sunday morning. He is survived by his wife, a patient in the Warren General Hospital, two children and a number of brothers and sisters. It was believed he also died of a heart attack.

The jimriksha was invented in 1871 by an American, the Rev. Mr. Jonathan Goble, a Baptist missionary residing in Yokohama.

Beware Coughs Following Flu

After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. State Officials Face Charges Of Law Violation

HARRISBURG, March 13.—(INS)—Fourteen Republican state officials and employees, including Secretary of Health A. Hamilton Stewart, appeared today before the U. S. Civil Service Commission at a hearing in Harrisburg to answer charges of violating the Federal Hatch law. It was the first time since 1938, when an investigation was made of alleged corruption in the Democratic administration of former Gov. George H. Earle, that so many state employees have been accused of irregularities.

The hearing was held in the U. S. District court before a commission examiner, James W. Irwin, to air accusations leveled by the commission against the Martin administration officials and employees that they engaged in political activities during the 1942 election campaign. The Hatch law forbids political activity by state workers paid in whole or in part from federal funds. The Health Department receives approximately $3,200,000 a biennium from congress.

Stockyards At Cleveland Will Be In Operation

CLEVELAND, March 13.—(INS)—Officials of the Cleveland Union Stockyards expected to be able to handle incoming livestock as usual today despite a fire that raged through between 10 and 15 acres of the yards.

A. Z. Baker, president of the yards, said that officials and employees worked all day yesterday to sort out and ship livestock that had escaped the flames so that incoming cattle, sheep and hogs could be handled in undamaged pens.

Two firemen lost their lives and four others were injured in the triple-five alarm fire which caused damage estimated at more than $100,000.

Shady Side Home Damaged By Fire

Firemen were called to a double house at 234-246 Shady Side shortly before noon today, by an alarm from Box 43. Fire Chief James E. Thomas reports. Defective wiring, it is believed, set fire to the ceiling of the cellar, and for a time it looked as if a bad fire was in progress, but the blaze was confined to the cellar, with a minimum of loss.

The home is occupied by the families of Paul Savelli, Patsy D'Ambrosia and Mrs. Robert Lynn. Two other fires occurred over the week-end.

At 5:10 p. m., Sunday, firemen were called to the home of J. A. Ginguillo of 521 Reynolds street, when burning grass in the yard ignited the porch. The damage was negligible.

At 5:25 o'clock this morning firemen were summoned to the home of Tony Ross of 131 Center street, where spontaneous combustion in some oil rags on the stairway burned through the side of the house and between the ceiling and floor on the second floor. Damage of around $200 resulted.

Pope Makes Plea Rome Be Spared

LONDON, March 13.—(INS)—A new plea that Rome be spared the ravages of war was left today with the leaders of the belligerent nations by Pope Pius XII. In one of the most vigorous addresses delivered by the pontiff since the outbreak of hostilities, the holy father urged that the warring nations turn their thoughts toward peace. He spoke to multitudes gathered before St. Peter's Basilica on the fifth anniversary of his coronation as vicar of Christ. With the turmoil of battle almost at the approaches of the eternal city, the pope declared that to turn Rome itself into a battlefield "would indeed be an inglorious deed." "Once again," said the pontiff, "we appeal to responsible men in both belligerent camps to let their names in any way be smirched by an act which history would never justify. We ask them to cast their thoughts and deeds to efforts toward a lasting and liberating peace." He spoke feelingly of aerial warfare in particular and he asked for new efforts to relieve the peoples of the world of their suffering. COUNTY HOME SERVICE Religious services will be conducted Tuesday evening at the Lawrence County Home under the auspices of the Lawrence County Ministerial association. Rev. U. S. Munnelly, pastor of the Second Baptist church, will be the presiding pastor.

BOXER ACCUSED McKESSPORT, Pa., March 13.—(INS)—McKeesport authorities today were holding Tony Komyniak, 25-year-old Duquesne boxer better known as Tony Martin, on charges of stealing a car and robbing a bakery of $8.21. An employee in the bakery noted the license number of the car in which the bandit made his getaway Saturday. Police later saw Komyniak driving the car and gave chase, firing several shots. The boxer abandoned the car and fled into some woods, but later gave himself up to a plant guard at the Irwin works of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation. Were Stomach Ulcer Pains Napoleon's Waterloo? The great Napoleon who conquered nations was himself a victim of after-eating pains.
